

Hyperspatial Network

E Through eighteen lost dimensions, I am searching for a line
C For your node there in the network to draw a little closer to mine.
E There are pathways and connections, there are highways and dead ends,
C But I only need one roadway so we can be together again.
A It's a tangle of confusion, uniting where and when
A As I'm listening for an echo from a lover and a friend.
E I am lost and I am lonely, I am far and far away,
C But if I just get lucky, I'll be at your door today.

(Chorus)

A It's the hyperspatial network, come on and take a spin
A On the hyperspatial network, 'cause you've got to play to win.

It's a transportation system that no human understands
And it's outgrown its creators in a way they never planned.
Yeah, everything's connected, but the map has been misplaced.
It's a leap for hope and glory when you leap through hyperspace.
But I know that you are out there and you're waiting on the line,
And I'm ready for transmission and I'm praying we'll be fine.
I am seeking a connection that will send me homeward bound,
But if I'm not arriving, you will know where I am found.

(Chorus)

(Bridge)

A You can twist me, you can bend me, you can turn me inside out.
A It's the chance I might be home tonight that makes me want to shout.

There's a pathway in the network - it's a pathway I can find
Past the hyperspatial junction where you're putting yourself on the line.
Through eighteen lost dimensions that Euclid never knew
I can find the shortest distance to bring me home to you.
I am transiting a network where the lines are never straight,
But I'm listening for your signal and you know I'm feeling great,
'Caus you know I hear you callin' and you know your call is strong.
So you keep hangin' on there and you know I'll be along.

(Chorus)

A It's the hyperspatial network, come on and take a spin
A On the hyperspatial network, 'cause I play this game to win.