

WINGS

Lyrics and Music © 2006 by Bill Roper

G D Am7 D
Beyond the far horizon, there's a place that I should go
C Em7 D7
Though it's much more far away than it appears.
G D Am7 D
And still it is much closer than the places that I know,
C/G D7
But I could not walk there in a hundred years.

(Chorus)

C D G Em7
Where the sky goes on forever and horizons are unbound
Am7 C D7
And the only thing you're hearing is your heartbeat's lonely sound.
G D Em7 C
Where the night is neverending, though the sun is shining bright
G D C
And everywhere a million points of light.

I can't build a road to heaven, I can't walk upon the air.
I can't find a path that rises from the land.
And though I send my spirit out to climb upon the stair
In the end I find that I can never stand.

(Bridge to chorus)

D D/A C/G
And I need to find my wings so I can fly,
D D/A C/G G
But wings are never strong enough to reach beyond the sky
D D/A C/G
And wings can never carry me away
D D/A C/G D7
And send me soaring high enough where I could finally stay

So I will stand here dreaming of a place I cannot go
With two feet firmly planted on the ground.
And I will not trade my dreams away, the only wings I know
To take me to the place that I have found

(Chorus twice)

We were driving across Nebraska when Gretchen said, "City kids don't see things like this. The horizon goes on forever."

And that brought this to mind.
